5. The Agency (Agencies) or Official(s) to Whom the Committee Reports.

The Secretary of Labor and the United States Trade Representative.

6. The Agency (Agencies) Responsible for Providing Necessary Administrative Support for the Committee.

The Bureau of International Labor Affairs, U.S. Department of Labor is delegated the responsibility for providing necessary administrative support for the Committee by Secretary of Labor Order 01-95, April 20, 1995. The United States Trade Representative, the Secretary of Labor, or their designated agents and representatives from other governmental departments as appropriate, shall provide such additional staff, information, personnel, administrative service and assistance to the Advisory Committee as the Committee may reasonably require to fulfill its purpose and to carry out its activities. Except as otherwise provided in this charter, the Secretary of Labor shall be responsible for all notice filings and other applicable statutory requirements as set forth in the Federal Advisory Committee Act, with the exceptions set forth in the Trade Act of 1974, as amended.

7. A Description of the Duties for Which the Committee is Responsible.

- a. To advise, consult with, and make recommendations to the Secretary of Labor and the United States Trade Representative jointly, on issues and general policy matters concerning labor and trade negotiations, operation of any trade agreement once entered into, and other matters arising in connection with administration of the trade policy of the United States.
- b. To provide reports on trade agreements to the President, the Congress, and the Office of the United States Trade Representative at the conclusion of negotiations for each trade agreement.
- c. To perform such other advisory functions relevant to the trade negotiations as may be required by the United States Trade Representative or the Secretary of Labor and the U.S. Trade Representative jointly, or the designees.
- d. The advisory functions described under (a), (b), and (c) above shall be performed both in connection with the preparatory phase of the negotiations and with respect to developments arising during the course of negotiations, as well as after the agreement is in force.

8. Membership and Organization.

The Committee shall consist of approximately 125 members from the U.S. labor community, appointed by the United States Trade Representative and the Secretary of Labor, acting jointly. Members will serve at the pleasure of the Secretary of Labor and the United States Trade Representative. A chairman shall be elected by the members at a regular meeting.

The Committee shall consist of the entire membership. The Committee will have one or more subcommittees. There shall be a steering subcommittee selected from the committee members. The United States Trade Representative and the Secretary of Labor may; (1) on their own initiative, or (2) at the request of the Steering Subcommittee, acting on the behalf of the full Committee, establish such other subcommittees as may be deemed necessary. Each subcommittee shall be composed entirely of members of the parent Committee.
